

MAHONE TALKS POLITICS

HE DISCUSSES THE SITUATION IN VIRGINIA AND THE SOUTH

The Louisiana Bill Receives His Attention—North Carolina May Have a Bold Delegation to the Next House.

THOMAS DUBOIS, RICHMOND, VA. WASHINGTON, September 22, 1904. Saturday is a part of Sunday in Washington—a beginning of the day of rest, and very little business of a public nature is transacted on that day.

At Democratic headquarters this morning the committee is winding up the most important week's business it has had thus far, and closing up its machinery for a fresh start Monday morning.

Secretary Gardner has returned from his trip to North Carolina, of which he speaks in the most glowing terms. "The Democracy of North Carolina," he says, "is the only one in the South that has not been broken up by the war."

North Carolina is still under the influence of medieval laws and restrictions which hamper its progress. Development may be gathered from the fact that among other things which the legislature is expected to do this year is to reorganize the State government.

General Mahone is out in an interview in a morning paper. He has a lot to say about the Louisiana sugar planters' strike, and the political situation that has happened in late years.

When Senator Fulkerson was shown the interview this morning, he looked at it with a certain amount of surprise. "Why, we haven't even a seat in Louisiana, except in one district," he said.

There were only twenty-four changes in fourth-class passenger lists for the week ending September 20, 1904.

China has long recognized the necessity of a navy of her own. She has, before the introduction of European-built ships, very extensive fleets of native-built vessels.

SCANDAL OF THE TIME

NEW YORK'S POLICE FORCE THE MOST SHAMELESS THIEVES.

An Unholy Alliance Between Law and Order and Crime and Disorder—Thirty Years of Depravity.

ORRUPTION in sickening, loathsome plenitude is being laid bare in these days. The corruption which has the employment of the police force in hand has adjourned for a few days, so it is said.

When the testimony of Tom Goold, a notorious dice player and absconding criminal—a man who for years leashed the proprietorship of a den so vile that it was treated as a public nuisance—was given, the man who has often been looked up for his wrong doings was not late in the realization that the police department of New York city had existed so long without interruption in any city.

At Pepper, Oregon, three little girls, the eldest but seven years of age, have caught in a trap set for mice and rats. Their father also shot and trapped over 100 of the little pests, and through the efforts of the State health officer, they were all destroyed.

Every Japanese barracks has a gymnasium, and the Japanese soldiers rank among the best gymnasts in the world. They are trained in the most thorough manner, and their physical condition is maintained by simple bounding on each other's shoulders, one man supporting two or three others.

A cargo of selected girls has been sent from London to western Australia, where there is a great dearth of women. It is reported that the girls are to be sold for the purpose of raising money for the relief of the famine-stricken districts of the East.
